Non-target Market

- Customers who do not purchase their motor insurance policy through you.
- Customers who are willing and able to fund legal; disputes themselves.
- Customers who have cover elsewhere.

Does the insurance product remain consistent with the needs of the identified target market ?
 Yes as evidenced in the Fair Value Assessment.

2. Fair Value Assessment

What assessments have been carried out relating to the performance and risk/reward profile of the product to ensure it meets the identified needs, objectives and characteristics of the target market?

The following metric based assessment has been carried out to determine whether or not the product continues to meet the identified needs, objectives and characteristics of the defined target market. As part of this assessment remuneration, commission, fees and distribution strategy have been considered

Based on the following results, it is evident that the product continues to provide fair value to customers, now and for the foreseeable future and can therefore continue to be sold in accordance with the target market statement and distribution strategy set out in this product review.

Customer vulnerability has been considered as part of the review – no specific issues have been identified within the target market

Broker Remuneration

Within Arc's Authority

Are the costs and charges of the product compatible with the needs, objectives and characteristics of the target market ?

Remuneration and commissions throughout the distribution chain are subject to continuous evaluation and oversight by Arc's Conduct Team to ensure they are commensurate to the costs associated with the roles and responsibilities of each distributing party so that they are appropriate and justifiable.

Where a distributing agent's commission is above Arc' commission tolerance, a full justification must be provided to Arc's Conduct Team who will carry out an assessment to ensure there is no potential customer detriment. Arc reserves the right to withdraw authority from distributors who do not meet our fair pricing requirements.

Arc do not apply any fees for mid-term adjustments, however it is up to the distributor if they choose to charge fees which must be appropriate and reasonable and subject to oversight by Arc's Conduct Team. Fees may also apply to the core insurance product to which our add-on attaches.

Is the charging structure of the product appropriately transparent for the target market, such as that it does not disguise charges or is too complex to understand ?

Where our product attaches to the core insurance offering as an optional add-on, the charging structure will be clearly identifiable as an optional extension in a customer's quotation or renewal invitation.

Where our product is embedded into the core insurance offering forming part of the wider core product benefits, no individual breakdown of charges will be provided to the customer.

Do the charges undermine the return expectations of the insurance product?

No, Arc's Conduct Team ensure commissions and remuneration continue to be commensurate to each party's roles and responsibilities in the distribution chain.

Recommended Distribution Strategy:

This product can be sold with or without advice depending on your preference and in line with FCA regulations. We suggest that this product can be sold face to face, via telephone or online.

Does the intended distribution strategy remain appropriate and consistent with the target market ?

Yes, our distribution strategy remains the most appropriate strategy in terms of reaching the target market and being of adequate standards to identify the customers who are compatible with the target market's needs, characteristics and objectives.

What reasonable steps will Arc take to ensure the product is distributed to the target market ?

Arc carry out a comprehensive onboarding process with distributors for all new products before they can be sold. This includes a TCF scorecard to ensure the product is being distributed correctly and to the identified target market. Additional checks are carried out as part of every scheme renewal.

Arc's Conduct Team also carry out analysis of Conduct Risk MI including claims complaints as well as sales and cancellation data supplied by distributors to identify any trends which may indicate potential customer detriment.

Distributors are encouraged to partake in product training to assist them in ensuring the product is sold to customers in the identified target market.
